CO-CREATIVITY IN FAMILY THERAPY: BEYOND METHODS AND PROTOCOLS

WITH JIM WILSON

Jim's workshop will draw on his practice over 40 years as a family therapist in the UK Health and Social Care services. He will address ways in which creativity in practice is a co-creative process of humanisation between all participants (after Paulo Freire) in contrast to overtly technological interactions between therapist and client/patient.

The workshop will aim to :

- Explore contexts on creativity that can enhance effective therapeutic practice
- Take account of limitations that often close down therapeutic possibilities .
- Extend the practitioner's repertoire of skills in meetings with children youth in family and individual systemic practice.

Jim will also draw on themes from his latest book, "The Playfully Serious Practitioner" (2023, Vandenhoeck & Ruprecht)
